

Dr. Andrew Johnston unlocks the potential of people and teams.

Dr. J is the hip professor you always wanted. He's an expert on leadership and team development, but he "gets" you. He connects with you, encourages you, and makes you better every time you meet. He expands the potential of people and teams and helps them inhabit it fully.

As a trained counselor and seasoned leader, Dr. J understands what makes people and teams tick and what it takes to make them the best they can be.

He knows how to engage an audience so they laugh, lean in, and leave ready to make the most of the opportunities and relationships in their world.

Contact: DrAndrewJohnston.com or Andrew@JohnstonConsulting.net

Why People Choose Dr. J

Dr. J prepares people for real world challenges and opportunities. His engagements are focused on results, and he equips participants with insights and strategies they can put to work immediately.

Dr. J connects meaningfully with leaders and teams because he knows the charms and challenges of leadership himself. Twenty-five years of surviving and inspiring transformation as a senior-level leader have tempered him and left him committed to encouraging and equipping others who want to lead and live well.

Dr. J's heart for leaders is coupled with a head for leadership. He knows how to move others and make the most of them. He draws from academic preparation in Interpersonal Communication, Counseling Psychology, and Leadership as well as diverse experiences as an executive, psychologist, professor, NCAA coach, and counselor to create unusually powerful experiences for his clients. In them, they discover new skills, new energy, and new vision for the future.

Equally comfortable on stage, in a classroom, or over a cup of coffee, Dr. J calls leaders and teams to a higher place and leaves them feeling more capable and more hopeful in the process.

Dr. ANDREW
JOHNSTON 